Dedication

We, the Annual Staff of Deep River School, proudly dedicate the '67 edition of the Demon's Diary to a person whom we all respect and admire. This person gives freely of her time and personality, instilling in us a sense of humor and a willingness to work.

For these reasons and many more which words are powerless to express fully, we, the Annual Staff of '67, will always be grateful. Therefore, it is in tribute to you, Mrs. Hal Thomas, that we dedicate this, the 1967 edition of The Demon's Dairy.

I Nancey Kirby do leave my superlative to my sister Judy. My School Spirit Award to Carolyn Creech and twelve years of school to Donnie Holder.

Prophecy

It's hard to believe that 5 years have passed since our class graduated. Every day I read some news item concerning one of our students when I pick up my newspaper.

Here is an article about Phil Cotton. He is in partnership with his father at Northview American Service Center.

Brenda Dowdy is now a first year teacher at "Ole DRHS," and wouldn't you know it, she's sponsor of the Demon's Diary!

Carolyn Cameron is a nurse at Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill. She will be getting married very soon.

Brenda Beal is now a commercial artist with Post Magazine.

Zoriana Lyczkowski, now living in South America, is working with the Peace Corps in that country.

Junior Sprouse, now married to the former Donna Stackpole, is head manager of KP Truckstop. They have one infant son, Kenneth Ray Sprouse, III.

Gray Walls is now the owner and head mechanic of his own garage in Moncure.

Dewitt Baker is head bookkeeper and accountant for the Baker Insurance Company in Sanford.

Nancy Porter is a Registered Nurse at Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D.C.

Lynn Gaines has finally settled down with his wife and their two children.

Pat Baker, now married to Keith Hamilton and mother of four boys, is a nurse at Virginia Hospital.

Buck Causey is still in school at U.N.C., but he now has a new boss man or should we say boss lady?

Tommy Dinkins and his lovely wife, Jane, have eight children and are expecting another visit from the stork very soon.

Ronald Thomas is working with the local electrical firm in Sanford.

George Brown is now happily living with his wife Carol and their son.

Betty Jo Thomas is the assistant veterinarian for the Animal Hospital in Coca, Florida.

Nancey Kirby is now the Art Editor and Consultant for the Greensboro Daily News.

Marissa Seagroves is the head bookkeeper for Ford Motor Company in Detroit.

Pat Buchanan is now a fashion designer for Glamour Magazine and mother of twins.

Joyce Brown, mother of two children, is working as a seamstress in her home.

Larry Cole is now head business manager of Cole's Construction Company.

Jeneverett Riddle has finished business school and is in the accounting department of J.P. Stevens. She is also bookkeeper for Ronnie's Band.

Sandra Stewart is happily married to Jerome and is vocational counselor.

Roy Lee Inman is now manager of Inman's Garage in Sanford.

Without the cooperation and support of our advertisers, the publication of this yearbook would be impossible. The businesses and firms of the Sanford area have graciously and patiently given of their time and money to show their concern for the students of our high schools. We extend our appreciation to them by patronizing their establishments.

Our Thanks

Each word, each picture, each ad, and each of the other parts large or small that have gone into the making of this yearbook, has been another step in the transformation of a dream into a reality. All of these were made possible through the help of many people; so, to our principal, faculty, students, and many friends who have so generously and kindly contributed to the success of the Demon's Diary '67, we express our deepest gratitude.
